

NewYork - Presbyterian

FORUM

News and Information for the Alumni of NewYork-Presbyterian Hospital July 2012

SPECIAL EDITION

NY MED

TUNE IN JULY 10
AT 10/9 PM CENTRAL ON ABC

ABC News Eight-Part
Medical Documentary Series

An Intimate Look at
NewYork-Presbyterian Hospital

NY MED

The ABC News team, under the direction of Executive Producer Terence Wrong (seated, far right) and Supervising Producer Erica Baumgart (second from left) in their production office at NewYork-Presbyterian

From the award-winning producers of Hopkins and Boston Med, ABC News' new eight-part medical documentary series, NY Med, takes a raw and intimate look at life inside one of the most famous hospitals in America. ABC's 20-person news team had unprecedented access to document the dramatic and inspirational stories of our patients and healthcare providers that define NewYork-Presbyterian Hospital.

The highly anticipated series was filmed over the course of the year without a correspondent or narrator. There is no point of view other than the voices of the men and women on staff at NewYork-Presbyterian and their patients and families. NewYork-Presbyterian is the first hospital in New York to be profiled in a television medical documentary series.

"Medicine is a universal subject. At some point in our lives we or those we love will become patients for one reason or another," says Executive Producer Terence Wrong. "This series takes you behind the curtain to learn about those we depend on to fix us, and how sometimes they just can't."

The news team was not escorted by Public Affairs, and before filming began, the team met with senior management and physician and nursing leadership; underwent training focusing on privacy, confidentiality and safety; and was screened by Workforce Health and Safety.

"NewYork-Presbyterian Hospital relies on extraordinary and dedicated physicians, nurses, and staff to deliver the best in care and caring. Our patients and their families come from near and far to find the help they need to face the most challenging and complex medical problems, and we are focused on providing them with the highest quality and most compassionate care," says Dr. Steven J. Corwin, CEO of NewYork-Presbyterian Hospital. "NewYork-Presbyterian is proud of our amazing Hospital team and all who were involved in the making of this informative and poignant program."

NY Med takes a candid look at how cutting-edge medicine often makes the difference, although even the best surgeons can find themselves flirting with disaster. The ER staff trade jibes with strong-willed New Yorkers in moments that can be poignantly heartbreaking or off-the-hook hilarious. NY Med also captures the often complicated and intertwined personal relationships that develop when working in such a large and busy emergency room under highly charged and demanding conditions.

"Terry Wrong and his team have brilliantly captured the incredible drama of life and death inside one of the world's great hospitals. Real and riveting, NY Med is sure to enlighten, engage and inspire viewers this summer," says ABC News President Ben Sherwood.

Some of the doctors of NY Med travel difficult and uncertain paths to reach the pinnacle of medical excellence. Anthony Watkins, MD, an African-American from the Deep South, overcame limited means and an absentee father to become one of the most heralded new talents in transplant surgery.

Among the surgeons of NY Med is the well-known Mehmet Oz, MD, who proves that he remains a dedicated heart surgeon in addition to his successful parallel career as a talk show host.

When patients and doctors come together on NY Med, the stakes are frequently high. Rita Saverino, a Wall Street banker and mother of two, thought she would die from the grapefruit-size tumor in her stomach, but Tomoaki Kato, MD, believes he can help with ex vivo surgery. Even with the best trained surgeons, things go awry: A former Army officer goes into the operating room for a heart transplant, but wakes up to learn that the heart he has been waiting for was irreparably damaged during removal. Both he and his doctors are desperately disappointed, but what he does next will melt viewers' hearts.

Executive Producer

Terence Wrong

Supervising Producer

Erica Baumgart

Series Producer

Monica DelaRosa

Premieres Tuesday, July 10
10/9 PM Central
on the ABC Television Network
For a preview, go to nyp.org/nymed

GOOD NEWS! YOU ARE NOW ABLE TO STAY IN TOUCH with NewYork-Presbyterian Hospital any time of the day regardless of where you're located. The Hospital is now active on Facebook, Twitter and YouTube. As of 2011, more than 1,230 U.S. hospitals had an active social media presence and we're thrilled to be among them. At NewYork-Presbyterian, we'll be using social media to communicate with patients, physicians and nurses the amazing things happening at our hospital and connect with our growing community of alumni.

We're actively updating our channels to include the latest hospital news, clinical advances and amazing patient stories. Miss the days when you could be part of a hospital-sponsored walk team? No problem. Just visit our Facebook page, look at our photos, and you'll feel like you're there. Become our fan at www.facebook.com/newyorkpresbyterian.

Interested in keeping track of the hospital in real-time? You can hear from us and tweet us anytime by following www.twitter.com/nyphospital.

We're also routinely adding video content to our YouTube channel, which currently plays host to more than 420 videos, featuring patient stories and webcasts with our physicians and surgeons. You can become a subscriber to our channel by visiting www.youtube.com/newyorkpresbyterian.

We hope you'll follow NewYork-Presbyterian online and join the conversation. Expect to see lots of content added for the July 10 premiere of NY Med.

Office of Medical Affairs

NewYork-Presbyterian Hospital
525 East 68th Street
New York, NY 10065
www.nyp.org/alumni

Top Ranked Hospital in New York.
Eleven Years Running.

First Class
US Postage
PAID
New York, NY
Permit No. 1043

SIGN UP FOR CME

Continuing Medical Education (CME) activities are provided through Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons: (212) 305-3334 and Weill Cornell Medical College: (212) 746-2631. Both institutions are accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to authorize and issue CME credit. For all upcoming education events through NewYork-Presbyterian Hospital, visit www.nyp.org/pro.

Renal Biopsy in Medical Diseases of the Kidneys

Dates: August 1-4, 2012
Location: Columbia University Medical Center
Alumni Auditorium
650 West 168th Street
New York, NY 10032

For more information and registration, call (212) 305-3334 or e-mail: cme@columbia.edu

Symposium 2012: Stroke Rehabilitation – New Insights on Motor and Cognitive Recovery

Date: November 2-3, 2012
Location: Weill Cornell Medical College/Uris Auditorium
1300 York Avenue (at 69th Street)
New York, NY 10065

For more information and registration, Jessica Grajales at (212) 585-6800 or via e-mail: nypcme@nyp.org

6th Minimally Invasive Spine Surgery and Navigation Hands-on Symposium

Dates: November 29-December 1, 2012
Location: Weill Greenberg Center
1305 York Avenue (at 70th Street)
New York, NY 10065

For more information and registration, contact Jessica Grajales at (212) 585-6800 or via e-mail: nypcme@nyp.org

IT'S ALL ABOUT ACCESS

The NewYork-Presbyterian Physician Access Transfer Center will coordinate your patient's transfer to the tertiary services available at NewYork-Presbyterian Hospital.

One call 1-800-NYP-STAT

For a physician referral to any one of our 5,500 physicians across all specialties, call the Referral Call Center at 1-877-NYP-WELL.

PROFESSIONAL RESOURCES

NewYork-Presbyterian Alumni Website – nyp.org/alumni

The Alumni Association website is a valuable resource for the more than 10,000 physicians who have trained at NewYork-Presbyterian.

Physician Career Initiative – nypsystem.org/physicians

The Physician Career Initiative alerts residents, fellows, and alumni trained at NewYork-Presbyterian and NewYork-Presbyterian Healthcare System hospitals to potential employment opportunities within System-affiliated hospitals and regional physician practices. To register, go to www.nypsystem.org/physicians. You will receive e-mail announcements of available positions that match your criteria and career requirements.

Educational Programs – nyp.org/pro

- Webcasts
- Medical Presentations
- CME Activities
- Newsletters

For more information about campus-specific Alumni Associations, contact:

Tamiko B. Collier
NewYork-Presbyterian Hospital/
Columbia University
Medical Center
654 West 170th Street
New York, NY 10032
(212) 342-0954
tac9036@nyp.org

Catherine E. Warner
NewYork Weill Cornell
Medical Center
Alumni Council (CAC)
525 East 68th Street, Box 123
New York, NY 10065
(212) 821-0948
centeralumni@med.cornell.edu
www.med.cornell.edu/about/cac

NewYork-Presbyterian

FORUM

July 2012

Vol. 5, No. 1

NewYork-Presbyterian Forum is published for former residents and fellows of NewYork-Presbyterian Hospital/Columbia University Medical Center and NewYork-Presbyterian Hospital/Weill Cornell Medical Center. Please send your news to: Richard S. Liebowitz, MD, MHSc, Chief Medical Officer, NewYork-Presbyterian/Columbia, and Vice President, Medical Affairs, rs19002@nyp.org.